The Celebrated Nerve Vitalizer and Tonic Quickly Transformed This Run Down Woman—She "Can't Not Say Too Much" for

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

IT GIVES ALMOST INSTANT EFFECT.

DENVER, Col.—"After a long season with the 'Silver Slipper' Company, I went to Galesburg to visit my brother and rest up for the coming season. A professional who is compelled to go through a hard season without any rest is totally run down before the season is over. This was my case exactly. My nerves were all unstrung and I was very much in need of a good nerve tonic. A friend suggested that I give Paine's Celery Compound a trial, and I did. The improvement was wonderful. When I received my call for rehearsal I left for New York feeling like another person. I cannot say too much for Paine's Celery Compound. It did me a world of good."—Miss Winnifred Gerard.

"Braced—Invigorated—Cured"—this is the tone of thousands of letters sent in by men and women of every calling and every station in life; grateful for the almost instant strength and health they get from Paine's Celery Compound. It feeds nature's own nerve-food—Celery—direct to the starving nerve centers, organ of the body.

HARVEY GIVES THE LIE TO HOME RULER NAKOOKOO

Exciting Incident at the Bethel Street Corner Political Stand Yesterday—Nakookoo was Hissed and Hooted From Soap Box.

Angry voices, threatening gestures and the passing of the lie were a few of the exciting incidents in a heated discussion on the Bethel street corner yesterday noon, when J. K. Nakookoo and Frank Harvey clashed over the recent arrest of Noley, Nakookoo and Umauma.

"It's a lie," shouted Frank Harvey.

"It's the truth," retorted Nakookoo, "and I can prove it."

It was all about Nakookoo's recent statements in the Kuokoa Home Rula over his sworn signature that Harvey had told him in a conversation the Democrats intended to disfranchise the Hawaiians, etc.

Pandemonium reigned for a few minutes. Nakookoo was hissed and hooted by Democrats in general and each time he attempted to resume speaking his voice was drowned out by the combined noises.

"Harvey is a clean man and you are not," shouted Democratic candidate Mossman from the crowd.

Nakookoo had first made his statement concerning Harvey without knowing the latter was in the crowd.

"Here's Harvey now, say it to his face," said an auditor.

Nakookoo turned around until he singled out Harvey. He pointed his finger at him and said: "Yes, I will say it to you." Harvey's eyes blazed and he strode forward toward the platform as if to drag Nakookoo down, but contented himself with calling Nakookoo a prevaricator. Nakookoo finally had to retire.

Iaukaula, a Home Ruler, then mounted the stand and put the rioters to shame. He said every man who mounted the stand had previously been well treated. The crowd should behave like gentlemen, not rowdies.

That ended the incident.

Senator C. Brown moved that the bill be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. Seconded by Senator Isenberg and carried.

Saturday, March 21st, 1903.

Senator Baldwin for the Committee on Ways and Means to whom was referred Senate Bill No. 7, reported as follows:

Honolulu, H. T., March 21, 1903. Honorable C. L. Crabbe, President of the Senate.

Sir:—Your Committee on Ways and Means, to whom was referred Senate Bill No. 7, entitled "An Act authorizing the deposit of the public money in a designated depository, to provide for the safe keeping and repayment thereof, and to provide security therefor," begs leave to report that we have had the same under careful consideration. This bill provides that the Treasurer of the Territory may appoint any Banking Association, Banking Corporation, or any Co-partnership or individual that carries on the Banking business in the city of Honolulu, as a Depository of Public Money and as Financial Agents of the Territory. But before designating the depository, the Treasurer shall require any Banking House desiring to be so appointed to tender for the purchase at no less than their face value, of all the bonds of the Territory of Hawaii, amounting to $325,000.00—authorized by Act of the United States Congress, to pay in part the so-called "Fire Claims." The bill further provides that the Treasurer shall appoint the Banking Association that shall purchase all the said bonds, to be the Public Depository, and shall deposit all the public monies with said Public Depository during the term of life of the bonds.

The Public Depository is required to deposit all the above bonds with the Treasurer as security for public monies deposited in said depository. The above is an outline of the provisions of the bill.

Your committee have considered the bill carefully, and discussed its provisions with some of the financiers and business men of the city. We are not in favor of the Act as introduced, on the ground that it obliges the Treasurer to deposit all public funds in one bank until such time as the "Fire Claim" bonds, held by the Treasurer as security, are redeemed, which is likely to be fifteen (15) years. It is true that the advantage to the Government is that under the provisions of this Act the Government sells to the bank at not less than its face value, a four per cent (4%) bond, which is certainly a good price for the bond in this market, but your committee are of the opinion that this advantage does not warrant the passage of an Act that will compel the Treasurer to deposit all public funds in one bank for a term as stated above, that will probably be fifteen years. Such a bank might fail and cause the Government serious embarrassment, or there might be other good and sufficient reasons before the term is out why there should be a change in the banking house. The Government should not have its hands tied in a matter of such importance.

Another point must be taken into consideration. This Government has asked for tenders on these bonds in the cities of the Eastern States, and they will probably be able to place them in the East, at not less than their face value.

We herewith introduce as a substitute bill, a general Banking Act, drawn largely from the general Act governing the depository of public monies on the Mainland. Under the provisions of this bill, the Treasurer may appoint one or more Banking Houses as depositories for public funds, who shall be obliged to put up Territorial or County Bonds, of the Territory of Hawaii or United States Bonds, as security.

If the Senate should decide to take up Bill No. 7 it should be amended so as to give the Government greater security.

We append herewith a table showing cash balances in the Treasury each month, during the years 1900, 1901 and 1902, and the average for each month during the year.

Respectfully submitted,

H. P. BALDWIN,
J. D. PARIS,
S. E. KALAE.
